

Resolution of the 2023 Award for Best Interdisciplinary Thesis

On 15 November 2023 the call for the 2023 Award for Best Interdisciplinary Thesis was published on the Doctoral School website, inviting submission of applications between 15 and 22 November 2023.

The award is outlined in the UOC's strategic plan Impuls Recerca 2025, which aims to foster interdisciplinary collaborations. Thus, to bolster this line of work, the UOC Doctoral School is giving out a special award for the best interdisciplinary thesis for the 2022/2023 academic year.

The selection committee, meeting on 4 December 2023, has resolved the call for the 2023 Award for Best Interdisciplinary Thesis and has selected ex aequo the following candidates:

NATALIA GARRIDO SKURKOWICZ

PAUL MWANGI MACHARIA

The award, which comes with a gross monetary prize of €500, will be shared equally between the two candidates.

And, in this respect, I hereby sign this document.

Barcelona, 4 December 2023

David Masip Rodó

Director of the Doctoral School of the Universitat Oberta de Catalunya